

Four Flat Whites in Italy - Director's Notes

Directed by Ross Jordan assisted by Braden Lister

What a great challenge putting Roger Hall's classic hit comedy on stage this year. It was a show with a very dedicated and professional team who all worked very hard to get the show to reach a level the society can be very proud of; I was absolutely rapt at our achievement.

I was really proud of our actors who over the weeks grew into their rolls and pulled off a stunning performance night after night. The back stage team did an awesome job to get the staging and technical aspects of the show to a high level.

Our new president Anne Megget, and our committee worked tirelessly to get the show on the road as well as introducing the new ticketing system and the new approach to promotion in social media advertising.

The adjudication report has been received and was very thorough with complements and recommendations. Over all a positive report that we can all be proud of. The show has been entered into the Wellington District Theatre Federation full play awards (Antoinette's) which should be interesting.

The show also had an assistant director Braden Lister who has been announced as our 2020 show's director.

Overall it was a show that I and my cast and crew had fun with, and at the same time introduced new and old to experience New Players theatre. Thank you to everyone.

Anne

This is brilliant. I'm sure he could bluff his way past the real guards.

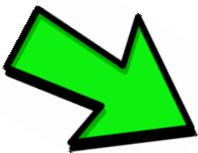

Sounds as though it is going well... best to cast and crew.

Sympathy to Anne Megget on the passing of her much loved Mum.

Also sad news that longtime member Chris Wall (Haslam) passed away recently.
